SHORT RATIONS IN DAWSON

The Flour Supply Has Been Corralled.

Miners Threaten to Raid
the Warehouses.

The Canadian Government Preparing to Establish Posts
Along the Routes.

SUGUAY, Alaska, October 20.—via
Seattle, October 25.—Hon. Clifford
Sifton, Canadian minister of the interior, and party returned yesterday from a trip over the Chilkoot and Skagway trails, going as far as Lake Tagish.

Mr. Sifton says that the richness of the new discoveries on Dominion, Sulphur, Quartz and Moosekin creeks in the Klondyke district has been fully established. Mr. Sifton further said that the disposition of his government was to facilitate any reasonable plan for getting into the Yukon country. The Canadian government, he said, understands that if the richest gold fields of the Yukon district are to be developed early means of communication must be had. Posts will be established at different points along the routes leading from Skagway and Dyea to and down the lakes and rivers to Dawson City.

These posts will be garrisoned with police to aid in the suppression of lawlessness and furnish our needed assistance to trekkers. They will also contain stores of food and clothing, which can be forwarded as required at any time to the Yukon country. The work of building these posts has already been commenced at Sheep Camp, Linderman, Tagish and White Horse rapids, and others will be built at a distance of fifty miles to the west the Yukon to Dawson City.

Mr. Sifton will leave for the south tomorrow or next day, and on the way down will examine Tokio, Inlet and a portion of the route leading into the interior from that point.

The party will thus proceed to Fort Wrangell, where they will ascend the Stikine river so far as may be practicable in the steamer's launch, the object being to examine the shoals and quicksands that beset the rapid Stikine.

There is a corner in front of Dawson City, and none can be seen at the distance. This is the statement made by O. J. Morris, of a party of four which reached Stewart's last night, having come direct from Dawson City.

More was accompanied by his son, Morris R. Morris, N. C. Woodring and George F. Compton, all residents of Seattle. The party left Dawson on September 7th. At that time not a pound of flour could be obtained. There was plenty of it in the town, however, the available supply being at high prices. Enterprising speculators with money had cornered the flour, and while their warehouses were filled to overflowing there was not an ounce for sale.

Mr. Morris states that when he left Dawson threats were being made that the warehouses would be raided and that the people would help themselves, paying, of course, a liberal price for what they took. The stores would not sell more than six cans of milk, when cans of meat and other articles in proportion to any one person. Commodity costs sold at twenty cents a can, milk at 50 cents, beans at 25 cents and sugar at 30 cents a pound.

Six steamers were daily expected to arrive from St. Michaels and their arrival would end the flour corner and insure ample provisions for this winter. On their way up river and lake Mr. Morris and party met from five to twenty-five boats daily going down to Dawson City. They only heard of one boat on route, no live stock or loads.

Chilkoot, Salmon and Quartz creeks, a branch of Indian river, a tributary of the Klondyke and Moosekin creeks, a tributary of the Yukon, a few miles below Dawson, which were discovered last summer are all exceedingly rich, but do not rival Eldorado or Bonanza creeks.

HEALTH COUNCIL

Meeting of the State Sanitary Boards.

Consumptive Patients to Be Hired after Segregated in State Institutions.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 25.—A conference of the Board of Health of the state was held in this city today for the purpose of discussing various topics of interest to the medical fraternity and general public.

The meeting, which was held in Golden Gate hall, was called to order by Dr. G. A. Ruggles of Stockton, who welcomed the delegates in brief address and outlined the work before the conference. An address of welcome was also delivered by Mayor Phelan, who dwelt upon the need for such a conference and the benefits to be derived from it. Officers were then elected: President, Dr. H. N. Rocker of Oakland; vice presidents, Drs. Powell of Marysville and Ross of Sacramento; secretary, Dr. Matthews of the State Board of Health.

During the afternoon session the State Board of Health held a meeting for the purpose of discussing the question of segregating the tuberculous patients from others in the various state institutions; and it being the unanimous opinion of the medics present that this should be done, an order was issued to the physicians in charge of the asylums to report the number of such patients and segregate them immediately.

The afternoon session of the conference was devoted to reading of papers and addresses.

Plyler May Get a New Trial.

BANTA CRUZ, October 25.—The People's court has granted a writ of habeas corpus in the case of George F. Plyler, convicted of malfeasance. Plyler will remain in jail here until his appeal for a new trial is decided.

CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

The United States Has Fulfilled Its Obligations.

WASHINGTON, October 25.—It is not doubted among officials that the basis of the Spanish reply to Mr. Woodford's note will be the charge that the United States has not observed the requirements of international law in the matter of preventing filibustering.

In this case, the state department will have some pertinent facts to present, which its officials believe will completely alienate from Spain any sympathy that the latter may have harbored from European nations on that score.

It is asserted positively that in no single case where the Spanish authorities have brought to the attention of our government the fact that an illegal expedition was about to start from our shores for Cuba, has it neglected to use all the means permitted by our laws to prevent the start.

Altogether the officials here are confident of their ability to show that the government has more than complied with the requirements of international law, which, as laid down in the Alabama arbitration, simply demands that a nation "use due diligence" to prevent the departure of hostile expeditions.

As intimation have been made that the instructions of Minister Woodford may be made public at Madrid, the statement is made by officials here that the publication of the instructions will be approved by the United States, and without this approval it would be contrary to the sense of diplomacy for the Madrid authorities to make public the correspondence.

Another Tugboat Marriage.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 25.—Late yesterday afternoon W. J. James and Mrs. Susie Stanley, residents of Tulare, were married at the altar just beyond the three mile limit. Mrs. Stanley was divorced recently and as the law of this state forbids marriage within a year after the granting of divorce the couple were compelled to call on Captain Ah伦 to perform the ceremony outside the jurisdiction of the tugboat Ida A. to perform the ceremony outside the jurisdiction of the state.

WHEAT MARKET

The Fluctuations Favor the Speculators.

For a While the Figure Stands at 95; Then Drops to 93 1/4.

CHICAGO, October 25.—Wheat opened 1 cent lower than it closed Saturday, several causes contributing to bring about the radical change. Liverpool quotations were 1/2 to 1/2 lower to begin with, and the northwestern receipts were heavy.

The world's shipments for the week to Europe were again heavy and considerably in excess of their estimated requirements. The total quantity from all ports exclusive of India was 9,035,000 bushels, against 9,504,000 bushels last week, and 9,271,000 bushels the corresponding week of the year before.

Chicago receipts were 230 cars. Apart from the heaviness of the export receipts, however, the news from the northwest was favorable. Estimates by good judges as to the crop of the three principal producing states placed the total at from 110,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels, a considerable reduction from recent figures.

London advises were to the effect that France was still bidding for native English wheat, but that there was no more available supply held by good dealers. Enterprising speculators with money had cornered the flour, and while their warehouses were filled to overflowing there was not an ounce for sale.

Mr. Moore states that when he left Dawson threats were being made that the warehouses would be raided and that the people would help themselves, paying, of course, a liberal price for what they took. The stores would not sell more than six cans of milk, when cans of meat and other articles in proportion to any one person. FOOTBALL TEAM

Organization of the "Fresno Victors."

Some Good Games to Be Played Here During the Winter.

Fresno is to have a star football team and some good games will be played here during the winter. R. M. Thompson, the enterprising dealer in bicycles and sporting goods is at the head of the movement to organize a team, and he has started out with an offer to provide the players with suits, at an expense of $100.

On Sunday a meeting of local players was held at Mr. Thompson's store, and their enthusiasm was such as to insure the formation of a formidable eleven.

There was no concern over the balls in corn. The market value was 10¢ and 1/2¢ each. It remained near the visible figures operating despite the visible figures operating which showed an astonishing increase of 4,750,000 bushels. This makes the corn 44,700,000 bushels or more than double that of last year. Offerings were heavy after that with very little demand. December ranged from 20 1/2 to 25 1/2.

Oats were lower all day, the result of sympathy with corn. December ranged from 18 1/2 to 18¢ and closed 7 1/2 lower at 18¢.

Grady Loses His Suit.

Judge Rieley yesterday decided for the defendants in the suit of W. D. Grady against A. Hunsut and L. Roppon, the Chinatown saloon keepers, from whom he claimed $225 as attorney fee which he alleged he had contracted to pay him for defending Jacobson Dagonne, accused of the murder of Chris Molbeck.

The court gave the defendants judgment against Grady for $15 on their cross-complaint.

Flue Burned Out.

The fire department was called out last evening as an alarm sent in from the residence of Dr. W. T. Mapin, where the fire had been ignited. The engines were summoned by telephone, and the young lady at the central office became so excited that she told engine house No. 1 that the blaze was in Chinatown. The apparatus from there went across the track in a hunt for a fire.

The name of the team will be the "Fresno Victors," and the colors will be yellow and black.

Enterprising School Trustees.

During institute week the trustees of Madison district had their school house repainted a glistening white, with light

TO DEFINE THE BOUNDARY

The Alaska-Canadian Frontier to be Fixed.

It Will Be Done Quickly and Peacefully.

Both Great Britain and the United States Recognize the Necessity of the Work.

WASHINGTON, October 25.—It is believed here that in view of the great prominence Alaska has achieved owing to the recent gold discoveries and the importance of definitely fixing the boundary line between our territory and that of the dominion of Canada, the senate, when it reassembles in December, will take early action upon the treaty pending between Great Britain and the United States survey and marking off the 141st meridian.

This treaty was sent to the senate almost two years ago. The 141st meridian marks the eastern boundary line of Alaska down to within 10 marine leagues of the southern coast, where the line trends to the southeast, keeping its distance from the coast.

Concerning the 141st meridian there is, of course, no controversy between the United States and Great Britain and no basis of settlement of the southeastern line.

The original treaty as sent to the senate, it is understood, was amended or proposed to be amended by Senator Stevens so as to include the entire line of the dispute relating to the southern line.

If such an amendment were insisted upon by the senate, as appears unlikely, it is not certain that Great Britain will at present agree to the modification. The work of adjusting the differences between the two countries regarding the southern line has not progressed for two years. In 1893 each government appointed a commissioner to travel through the territories through which the line runs, and each made topographical maps of the country, which were submitted to the respective governments December 31, 1893.

These commissioners had no power to effect a settlement. Their work was confined strictly to furnishing information upon which subsequent negotiations could proceed. As no range of mountains runs along the coast, it was assumed to be the case when the line was first drawn between the United States and Canada, that the line would form a sort of archipelago along the coast.

But in the determination many intricate questions are involved, whether the west line shall be assumed to follow the sinuosities of the shore or run from headland to headland, or whether the line be considered to run ten marine leagues from the outer shore of the island, which form a sort of archipelago along the coast.

The government officials who have studied the contest are confident that our title includes the islands and ten marine leagues of territory from the coast line with all its sinuosities.

Narrow Escape of the Southern Pacific Pay Car.

A Switchman Sends It crashing Into a Yard Engine.

BAKERSFIELD, October 25.—The carelessness of a switchman in the Southern Pacific yards last evening caused the death of one man and serious injury to two others, one of whom will die. He threw the wrong switch and sent a Southern Pacific pay car crashing into the yard engine, which was standing still on a siding.

Engineer Frank Orr, Fireman Lemasters and William Hitchcock, a blacksmith in the shops, were standing on the tailboard of the engine, and were pinned between the platform of the car and the locomotive. Both of Lemasters' legs were broken, and he died at 8 o'clock last night, an hour after the accident. Hitchcock's back was broken, and his death is certain. He was sent to the Oakdale hospital last night. Engineer Orr suffered the fracture of his right arm, and was severely injured. His condition is not considered dangerous, but he will be confined to his bed for some time to come.

Lemasters, who lost his life in the accident, was a young man, a native of Indiana, and lives with his parents here. The engineer and fireman have spent years in the Southern Pacific service. Four physicians did all that was possible to relieve the sufferers.

The damage to the pay car was fairly great. The damage to the car was moving slowly.

The mistake of the switchman is said to have been due to his haste to finish his work and get to the pay car to draw blue border. The outbuildings will be treated to a thorough coat of whitewash. This is one of the most enterprising districts in the county, and its buildings and grounds are an ornament to the neighborhood.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

They Will Meet in Los Angeles in November.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 25.—G. W. Baker, the chairman of the National Silver Republican party of California, has appointed the following gentlemen as an administrative committee for the Silver Republicans of this state, by congressional districts, as follows:

First district—A. O. Carpenter of Ukiah.

Second district—H. A. McCrane of San Francisco.

Third district—D. A. Ingalls of Alameda.

Fourth district—John M. Wright of San Francisco.

Fifth district—W. A. Conter of Santa Clara.

Sixth district—Sutherland Hatton of Los Angeles.

Seventh district—R. A. Thomas of San Diego.

These, together with the chairman and vice chairman of the provisional committee, namely, J. M. Phillips, first vice chairman; L. T. Haifield, second vice chairman; J. H. Woulard, third vice chairman, constitute the administrative committee of eleven of the Silver Republicans of this state.

The committee will meet in Los Angeles upon Thursday, November 18, 1897, for the purpose of organizing the western division of the Silver Republicans in the United States to present their views upon this question early in the coming year.

Among other distinguished gentlemen of national reputation, Hon. Charles A. Towns of Minneapolis has placed himself at the disposal of the committee for at least five speeches in the populous districts of the state.

It is the intention of the Silver Republicans to endeavor to obtain a sufficient number of silver coins from a Kentucky mint plant and to secure the services of the ablest speakers in the United States to present their views upon this question early in the coming year.

This will entail upon the community by granting licenses to known disreputable places in a proper one for investigation by the grand jury.

Four-crown raisins and the large sizes of prunes are in strong demand at fair prices. There is more money in quality than in quantity in most lines of production.

Should the Republicans be defeated in the New York campaign they will have only themselves to blame. Unlike the Democracy, there are not hopeless divisions in the party regarding its principles. Its division is entirely due to the rivalries of factions.

The Selma Farmers' Club starts out with a good membership and is now prepared to look after the interests of agriculture in that locality. There is no more useful organization than a well-conducted farmers' club and every agricultural center should have one.

The Expositor believes that "to definitely fix such an evil, however (the disreputable saloons) requires much investigation and the careful gathering of testimony." In short the Holdup gang wants plenty of time to "see" the proprietors before it decides which saloons to roast.

The Democratic Editors' State Association of Illinois adopted resolutions last Saturday heartily indorsing the Chicago platform of 1896. The percentage of humorists among the Democratic editors of the "Sucker state" must be quite large. It strikes us somewhat out of place, however, to be humorous about the departed.

The Stockton Record states, on the authority of a former attendant, that pilfering on the part of employees has been going on in the Stockton insane asylum for some time. The list is steadily growing and it will not be long before every institution in the state will have borne testimony to the grand results of the system of poisoning introduced by the great Slough City statesman. Governor Budd is right in deciding to lay down the cares of politics as soon as his term has expired. He needs a rest—and so do the state institutions.

WHO WAS SILENCED?

The yellow sheet which howled for the authorities to close the Chinatown dead-fall of Hunsu & Roach before the deadfall filled an aching void in its columns with an advertisement, and then became silent on the question that it had not a word to say in protest when the Supervisors shortly after renewed the license for the place, is following its usual yellow course and by misquoting and suppressing in part the testimony of W. D. Grady in the trial of his case against the Chinatown saloon keepers for the payment of a fee, attempts to create the impression that the Republican had also been silenced by the influence wielded by the Chinatown continent.

With its characteristic meanness and brazen impudence it does this in the face of the fact that the Republicans have continued to demand the closing of that particular deadfall and others of its kind, and that Grady's testimony was to that effect. No record was made of the evidence in the Grady case, but it is stated by those present that his testimony was to the effect that he and Dan Maloney had discussed the advisability of securing a cessation of hostilities on the part of the papers, the Republicans being mentioned in that connection. How well it succeeded, said Grady, may be seen from the fact that the Republicans roasted them worse than ever.

This is the testimony by which the yellow paper seeks to create the impression that the Republican is engaged in the same line of disreputable business that it is—testimony which shows that when it was considered desirable to silence the local press the Republicans continued steadfastly upon its course of demanding that the deadfall be closed. The column of the Expositor show that from that time it became silent, and remained so, even when the supervisors saw fit to renew the license of the notorious place.

This is what the Republican had to say when the supervisors took that action:

We observe that the board of supervisors has granted a license to Hunsu & Roach, at whose saloon a few days ago a man was beaten to death by an employee at the place. The supervisors required no information regarding the character of the resort, for there is not a member of the board who does not know all about it. Now, in the face of this knowledge, that could bring themselves to grant a license to Hunsu & Roach is something that passes understanding. We also notice that there is a position before the City Board of Trustees seeking for a liquor license for the Circle Bar saloon. This is another notorious resort, and it is to be hoped that the trustees will be less liberal in the matter of licensing places of this character than the supervisors.

There are a number of saloons in this city that should be closed, and if the authorities acted with vigor it would take them long to accomplish their desirable result. No saloon which there is illegal gambling, which is disorderly and in which persons have been robbed or murdered, should be permitted to keep its doors open. All these deadfalls should be wiped out.

The Republican feels that it owes an apology to its readers for giving this attention to the odiferous concern that will deliberately suppress the essence of evidence given in court for the purpose of shielding itself from public censure, but it is necessary that the record shall be kept straight.

The Republican has always advocated and shall continue to demand the closing of all these disreputable places in Fresno, whether it is Chinatown or elsewhere. The only discrimination that should be made is this: The worst and most notorious of them should be the first to go.

TWO CROAKERS.

Pierre Lorillard, who is on his way to America, was interviewed at Southampton before leaving for this country. The correspondent declared that Mr. Lorillard took a gloomy view of the conditions prevailing in the United States. The millionaire stated that European capitalists had so utterly lost confidence in the United States that even McKinley's election has not reassured them. The English, French and German investors cannot be persuaded to invest a cent in United States railroads or other business in the United States, and have withdrawn their investments except from such industries as brewing. "It is not for the socialist forces," added the ex-manufacturer of chewing tobacco and present owner of horses that rarely win, "the United States would command millions of money now idle in Europe."

Marshall Field, the wealthy Chicago merchant, who is about to return from a European trip, echoes Lorillard's words.

I fail to find European confidence in the United States returning with our improving business, and it never will until our currency system is settled on a firm, radical basis. I hope England will put an end to the bimetallic negotiations.

Lorillard has not been in America for two years. He is one of those Americans who are content to act as "uncle" to members of the impudent aristocracy of the old world, and who are rewarded for their services with a condescending nod, a clumsy handshake or even an occasional invitation to dinner. He has never been accused of knowing much about anything except chewing tobacco and is no more in touch with the financial world than a rag picker is in touch with the 400. It is not true that European capitalists have utterly lost confidence in us and refuse to invest in American securities and enterprises, nor is the liquidation that followed the panic of 1893 still in progress. That the election of McKinley restored what confidence in the European capitals had lost was clearly shown by foreign comment upon his election and the prompt improvement of the stock market. The statement of the tobacco manufacturer regarding socialism in this country is too absurd to require refutation.

Mr. Field is entitled to a more respectful hearing owing to his position as one of the most successful merchants in the country, but the character of his remarks will not incline the reader to extend that consideration to him again should occasion arise. The merchant prince has evidently let his devotion to the single gold standard get the better of his judgment. It seems to us that even if European confidence in the United States is not returning with our improving business, it need give us little concern so long as business continues to improve. But Mr. Field is equally wrong with Mr. Lorillard regarding the alleged lack of confidence on the part of the European.

The fact is our brethren across the sea are somewhat stirred up about the Dingley bill and they are doing a little wild talking. They are considering the matter of retaliation and threaten to unload what securities of ours they hold. But they won't do it. They will find out soon that the Dingley bill, while it protects American industries, is not such a terrible thing after all, and then they will try to set an opening in other markets for such of their products as are affected by the bill. The better times the Dingley will bring about in this country will benefit the Europeans as well as our own people, for imports in certain lines are bound to increase. Messrs. Field and Lorillard no doubt heard some of the expressions of dissatisfaction evoked by the new tariff, and thinking they indicated a lack of confidence emitted the croaking utterances chronicled by the London correspondents.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

A YOUNG WOMAN IS MADE CAPTAIN BY TWO STATES.

Women's Colleges—Jeweled Belts For Fall—The Return of Poplins—Women in Health—Collectors—Women and the Public Health—A Woman Under Fire.

Miss Mamie Telford Combs, better known as Captain Combs, is the personification of the hour among military people. The present age is not wanting in such military or in sense of the gaily dramatic. Miss Sue Givens, a young woman, is a state guard recruit in Missouri in the person of Miss Combs.

When the Fourth regiment of Missouri national guards was camping in Carrollton last summer, Miss Combs, who was visiting her sister with a number of girls from various states, went directly into camp. Miss Combs is in such an intense interest in military affairs that she soon found herself on a footing of comandante with all the soldiers in camp. Her favoritism, which was unusual, resulted in a suggestion to adopt her as "daughter of the regiment." Fearing perhaps of a complication of relationships that might ensue if their daughter offered to be a sister, etc., the boys begged that she be given a rank on the ground that only a reserve with fine chains and have for their foundation a band of ribbon velvet. These belts are specially flexible, as they may be used on many occasions with a different effect by merely changing the velvet ribbon. An exquisite belt of this description was made of open-work chains of old silver. Each clasp was set with a chumming green malachite and the whole mounted on faint rose pink velvet.

Another belt was made of cut steel clasps set with turquoise and having black velvet ribbon as the foundation.

Many of the new belts are formed of a variety of stones and bits of enamel wrought into one design. Those belts are most effective when worn with a gown of the new novelty goods.

In selecting one of these belts to wear with a special gown it should be remembered that to produce the best effect the predominating tint of the dress must be carried out in the jewels of the belt. For example, in a dress where prime is the most prominent color, no matter what other stones are used to form the belt, amethysts must be the most in evidence.

Torques form magnificent belts and torques and tourmalines are also effective. The jeweled belts vary in width from 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 inches.

Buckles gleaming with jewels will also be very much worn. The most striking are large jeweled butterflies. Either silver or gilt is used for the frame of the butterfly. Then one large stone forms the body. The wings are studded with tiny stones.

Buckles clasping a belt these buckles are used to hold the drapery of the skirt in place. They can be bought in a variety of sizes.

Buckles, old fashioned in shape and made of French gilt wrought with cut steel, are another of the novelties shown. Enameling buckles are in favor, and buckles of old coins are one of the season's fads.—New York Journal.

The Return of Poplins.

Poplins are "coming in," and both plain and figured patterns are to be seen. Bright plaids, checks and stripes are exceedingly effective and look as though they might be very durable. All the Scotch plaids are fashionable, and many new plaids have been recently designed. On a dark brown blue or black background the bright colors stand out clear and sharp. They will be made up in skirts to wear with plain short coats; for school frocks and will be greatly used for combining with other materials for vests, sleeves and trimmings.

The plain colors in the poplins are much smarter and will be worn with velvet waists and jackets. A dark brown trumper around the skirt with black and gold brocade has a short blouse of brown velvet with vest of yellow satin. At the belt fastening the elaborate gold buckles, which show great valentines against the dark brown. For children's frocks poplin is capital material, as it wears well and always looks smart. It is not, however, suitable for school frocks, and under all circumstances should be simply made. Dark brown, blue and beet red are the best colors.

There are many different kinds of poplin. Some, clasped under the head of novelties, have dots of white or black silk, and are suitable for reception costumes. One in gray flecked with white has recently been made up, the skirt plain and with little or no lace, the waist a lace blouse over yellow cut with a bertha of the poplin cut in squares and edged with a band of gold lace. This bertha is quite long, and there are points which fall over the sleeves. Collar and belt are of yellow velvet finished with long pointed bows.—Barber's Bazaar.

Women as Rent Collectors.

Rent collecting is a business at which women in England have been working quietly for a number of years. It was Miss Octavia Hill who first employed women to inspect tenements for the poor and collect the rent. In this she was aided and abetted by Ruskin. There is a fitness in the part of women for this work that may appeal to landlords in this country as well as in England.

Women are the principal occupants of the tenement houses, and the woman collector is able to understand their needs better than a man. She is also, in nine cases out of ten, able to locate cupboards, shelves and other needed improvements to better advantage for the desirability of a flat than a male in-spector. There are no eyes sharper than a woman's to ferret out dirt and disreputable practices.

All this, of course, presupposes that the owner of rental property wishes to do the fair thing by his tenants and to keep a decent class of people in his tenements. The testimony of a woman collector in England who "learned her trade" did not originate with Miss Willard, but she has them "from a college broad newspaper man," and she thinks his words good enough to preserve in print. There are eight judgments in all, with lots of "a's" and "b's" and "c's" under each heading.

Here are the objections classed as "faults of commission":

Too great emphasis of literary and scientific life as the life really worthy of a woman.

Initiation of man.

Woman's education a fad.

And these are "faults of omission":

Lack of physical training.

Lack of social training.

Lack of refining influences and tendencies.

Failure to hold up the ideal of wifehood and motherhood.

Lack of preparation for continuity of intellectual life after leaving college.

Women and the Public Health.

A noteworthy achievement of the Ladies' Health Protective association of New York was the investigation, in 1885, of a district between East Eighty-ninth and East Ninety-third streets, east of "Little Italy," where one lady reported eight families living in a single room, with their eight beds—such as they were—ranged against the walls. Three hundred crows, ill fed and filthy, were confined in the vicinity, while the subject were a very tight pair of drawers fitting close to the skin.—Forthright Review.

An Efficient Title Clerk.

Mrs. Jessie E. Jones of Somerville, Mass., is title clerk of the successor's office. For nine months of the year she works at the registry of deeds, East Cambridge, reading every title that is entered and making a copy of the gist of all pertaining to Somerville property, of which there are from 1,500 to 1,800 transfers every year. Miss Jones is considered a very efficient title clerk.

If you don't have this cleaned right away," said the man, "I'll report you to the Ladies' Health Protective association." "Oh, for God's sake, don't!" exclaimed the stock keeper. "Come again next week and see if it isn't clean." —Edith Parker Thompson in Fano.

Jeweled Belts for the Fall.

Jeweled belts will be the particular fad of the fall girl this year. Those which the shops are now displaying are wonderfully beautiful.

They are made of a great variety of materials and are mounted artistically with cast steel, old silver or French gilt.

The belts are made of a series of clasps, each clasp mounted with a single large gem. The clasps are con-

A Woman Under Fire.

A woman who carries the scars of a gun wound received while on duty as a nurse in the field of battle is certainly not often heard of or even read about, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, but there is a woman of Cincinnati with such a noble and remarkable record, and interest, I have that the day devoted to her in the pages of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, and Anna J.
